REGULATIONS ARE BEING ENFORCED

Ottawa, Aug. 31, 1918

Within the last few weeks most laws and closing-up orders have been enforced as penalties for violation of the Canada Food Board's regulations various parts of Canada. Some of the convictions have been obtained by the Canada Food Board's own inspectors, and many more by municipal authorities. It is the duty of local officials to see that these important regulations are enforced, as they have the full authority of law.

SIMPLY PLACE OF DESOLATION

Little for the Traveler to Enthusias Over When He Visits the Old City of Jerusalem.

The allies' advance in Palestine has taken them through Jerusalem and the little village of Jericho. The plain of Jericho, the scene of so many historic incidents in the past, is once again caught in the old mire of the spot. Such a sight reveals too plainly the hopeless poverty of the people, the cracks and holes in the rough walls of the hovels, the fields and gardens, fallen by neglect into a riot of weeds and wild flowers growing rank.

It is better to look at Jericho at sunset, and not too critically even then, in a soft light the wretchedness of the thatched huts is less insistent, the jamun and oleanders seem sweeter and the ragged Bedouins acquire picturesque qualities in spite of dirt and squalor.

It is only a short walk through the plain from this Jericho of the present to the two other Jerichos which have borne the same name. One, the Jericho of Old Testament, destroyed by Joshua, is only a memory, its reality proved by bits of unearthed walls and pottery. The third Jericho of the triangle is the Jericho of the New Testament, the city of palm trees which Antony bestowed upon Cleopatra and which she later sold to Herod the Great. Made gorgeous in the reign of Herod as a city of palaces, it is now only a wreck of stones and battered towers. The palms for which it was famous are gone, with the palaces and circus which they shaded. The plain of Jericho is a wilderness, bound to civilization by its many highways and its tiny villages. A few miles to the southwest lies Jerusalem, connected by the village by the road which the Samaritans traveled. All about the plain rise the cliffs, mounted by steep and winding trails. It is not an attractive region, but even if it were more wild and desolate than it is it would still be much visited, for at every step are landmarks of history.

GLADLY TOOK "WAR" BREAD

Horrible Thought Quickly Cured Small Girl of Unreasonable Prejudice Against the Allies.

"Oh, mother, must I get war bread?" Little Daughter had been asked to go to the bakery for bread for her school lunch.

"It's war bread, dear."

"But I don't like war bread. It's so dark and different. And the rules aren't for children, are they?"

"No, but you know we were asked to need one million bushels of wheat in the allies by May first. We have given our word, and our baker is trying to help by making this special bread, which has almost no white flour in it."

"Don't you like it better?"

"You may buy a lighter loaf," "Little Daughter started off. In a few moments she returned. Mother unwrapped the package. There was the small, dark loaf, indeed different, but really most palatable and nourishing. Little Daughter's eyes were glowing.

"Mother, the baker asked me if I liked war bread, and I said I did."

"Mother looked up in astonishment. "But, my dear, you just said—"

"Yes, mother, I know I just said to you I didn't like it, but I was afraid if I told it to the baker, he would think I was a German."

—By June Dransfield of The Vigilante.

Bread Without Wheat Flour

The New York Herald announces that a New York chef has a "wonder recipe for making bread without wheat flour." Jean Kieroch, chef of the Biltmore hotel, is responsible for the recipe, and he now gives it to the country, without money and without price. Mr. Kieroch told a Herald reporter the ingredients of the new bread are as follows: "Twenty-five pounds of rye flour, 25 pounds of graham flour, 25 pounds of corn flour, 25 pounds of crushed oatmeal, 1 pound of lard and 2 pounds of yeast." This, it is explained, is enough to make 150 pounds of bread. The yeast and rye flour should be mixed first and the others added alternately. Smaller quantities of bread can be made by using smaller proportions. The receipt doubtless is a good one, but it does not provide for bread without wheat flour. Graham flour is unbleached wheat flour. So, while the bread is a wheat cover, it does not do away entirely with the use of that grain.

Remorseful and Brave Coe

That a cook should perform a act of the utmost daring in the pursuit of his occupation as a purveyor of food seems almost incredible. Yet that is what was done by William R. Coe, a third-class ship's cook in the United States naval reserve. During the cold weather of last winter the Bonaventure marshes in North Carolina were frozen and boats were unable to reach the keeper of a lighthouse, who was consequently in danger of starvation. Gray made a sled by putting runners upon a lifeboat, loaded it with food and hauled it across the ice, which was broken and tossed by strong and dangerous currents, to the lighthouse, thus saving the keeper's life and enabling him to continue at his post of duty. Gray is a native of North Carolina.

Some Financier

"The fair defendant has been acquitted."

"So I hear."

"Is she thinking of going on the stage?"

"Not yet. She's too smart for that. She's going to marry her lawyer, and save a corking big fee."

FUEL SUPPLY FREE

To Municipalities of the Province of Ontario

OWING to the seriousness of the fuel situation at the present time, the Government of Ontario would urge upon all the farmers or others who may have wood lots, to assist at this time by making provision for their fuel supply from such lots.

The Government would also draw the attention of the various Municipalities throughout the Province to the necessity of taking some Municipal action to secure fuel supply. To this end the Government has decided to issue to any Municipality in Ontario a permit to cut fire wood in Algonquin Park or from other Crown Lands free of charge. For particulars as to localities, conditions of cutting, etc., apply to

Proof that Some Women do Avoid Operations

Mrs. Etta Dorion, of Ogdensburg, Wis., says:

"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

How Mrs. Boyd Avoided an Operation.

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my own work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."

—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

ONLY CHANGE IN MACHINERY WHAT SCOTLAND IS DOING

Hand Knitting Now Done in Exactly the Same Manner as It Was Many Centuries Ago.

There are a few touches of humor in the count-down of knitting, such as the over-large and the curious feminine group about the lady who, with restless skill, deftly turns the heel of a sock, but behind it all is a fine display of service, says a writer in the Detroit Free Press. When you see a sweater or knicker in process of evolution it may interest you to know that the work is being done just about as it was when the art was in its infancy. There have been great improvements in knitting machinery, however, and the first of them was directly due to a somewhat common melody—unreciprocated love.

The Rev. William Lee of Cambridge University, as the story goes, was deeply smitten with a maiden of his native town, Wetherbury, Nottinghamshire, but in spite of his ardent wooing could make no impression. The fair one calmly kept on with her knitting, thus the common occupation of English women.

In revenge Reverend William swore he'd invent a machine which would destroy the market for hand work. He kept his word, but Queen Elizabeth refused to grant a patent and to give her financial support because too many of her subjects would be deprived of their means of livelihood. So the inventor took his machine to France. This story may be entirely fanciful, but in 1898 William Lee did revolutionize history making by producing the knitting frame or stocking frame. American names in the list of those who have labored to perfect knitting machinery are W. C. Gile, Albert Reid and Getzold.

PLAN AIR POSTAL SERVICE

Is Expected by Englishmen to Be One of the First Innovations When Peace Is Declared.

Airplane postal service will be one of the first innovations of peace in England. The problem is already being worked out in detail, even to the cost of postage and hours of collection and delivery. It is also said that within the first few months after peace a transatlantic airplane service will be established. Airplane engineers say that the problem of constructing a machine for transatlantic flight has been solved in theory, and machines which would cross the Atlantic could be built to-day if it were not that the long distance houses of war time must also be heavy weight carriers. The most interesting result of these plans is that it has been found possible to arrange the collection and delivery of letters between London and New York in a matter of hours. A correspondent in London will be able to receive a written answer within a working day. Applied to the mid-west, an exchange says, this means that a Kansas City business man will be able to send a document to St. Louis, Chicago, Madison, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Omaha, Oklahoma City, Fort Worth, Yonkers or Little Rock when he reaches his office in the morning and receive it back fully signed before he goes home. The estimated postage for this service works out at 8 cents per ounce.

And Spain, Too!

Although neutral Spain may not be in the war, the Spaniards are certainly in it. The French have been perfectly well aware that hundreds of Spaniards joined the Foreign Legion at the beginning of the war; so that Paris was not taken the least by surprise when 200 Spanish soldiers paraded in French uniforms to receive decorations for valor. The Spanish colony patriotically welcomed them with fiery speeches, while the French loaded them with medals. Three received the reward of the Legion of Honor, and were the Croix Militaire and the Croix de Guerre. Since, from a strictly legal point of view, the Spanish legionnaires have imperiled their nation's neutrality, it will be interesting to know what Berlin will have to say about it; or rather about the 26 soldiers of Spanish ships and the 34 soldiers made by Spain, which "friendly" Germany has consistently ignored.—Christian Science Monitor.

Slam Shut Philippine Health.
The Philippine model sanitary house which has aroused so much interest not only among Filipinos but also among residents of neighboring countries, has been adopted by them, and contractors located at Bangkok, having secured instructions from the Philippine health service, have begun the construction of a number there. The houses are closely allied to the importance of promoting public health, and inasmuch as the health problems of them are very similar to those of the Philippines, it is to be expected that the Philippine health service will continue to produce delegations of them have arrived from time to time in Manila for the purpose of studying Philippine methods, one of them last year, being headed by his Royal Highness Prince Rangsi, brother of the King of Siam.

Privation in France.
The bread ration of the French soldiers has been cut from 25 ounces to 21 ounces, the civilian bread card allows 20 ounces per day, which is about one-third of the average bread consumption of the French peasant or workman. The manufacture of crackers and pastry has been absolutely prohibited. Consumption of sugar has been reduced 40 per cent and of rice 61 per cent. The import of a full vegetable has been reduced 55 per cent and of fat 40 per cent.

This Little Country Has Already Cheerfully Done Very Much More Than Her Share.

We are pretty well acquainted in this country with the part Canada is taking in the war. We have been advised from time to time of the individual sacrifices being made by the people in the north of us. We know only in a general way what other people are doing. So it comes as a refreshing news to hear from the lips of such a man as Harry Lauder the heroic work and sacrifices of the Scots.

More than 500,000 Scotchmen are under arms, or have given up their lives in the struggle. And Scotland is a small country. In the cities and towns there are no more eligible men—no more men fit to bear arms. They have all departed. Scotland is a land of old men and women and little children—and crippled soldiers. It is not the Scotland of three years ago, with a husky set of strapping young fellows tilling the fields and working in the mines and mills.

Not only that, but the people do not complain. There are no riots because of the conditions—no murmuring against their fate. The war is on; the Scots will fight it out. That is the spirit one finds in Scotland, among these old men and women and among the little children. It is the spirit one finds out in the trenches, where the Scottish soldiers stand on guard and meet the enemy face to face.

The history of Scotland is too well understood to call attention to it here. The record of the Scots, made in the long ago, still is fresh in the mind of every one who knows history. So it isn't necessary to state that the Scots are born fighters, that they are not going to give up. They have done in this war exactly what those familiar with Scottish history expected them to do. And they will not fall at any time in the future.

TOOK PHOTOGRAPHS OF CZAR

Movie Operation Was Privileged to Get "Close-Up" Views of the Imprisoned Former Russian Ruler.

In "Donald Thompson in Russia," the movie photographer tells how he succeeded in getting a picture of the czar after the revolution had begun. He went out to Yuzovskaya, the palace near Petrograd where the royal family were confined, and from a distance saw the czar and his son walking in the park. "The czar came out to see me," he says, "and I told him that I had not been before in 1918, and had made pictures of him then at the front and at Lemberg. He recognized me as a photographer. While I was making pictures and the camera was being re-loaded so that I could get in some more film, several of the soldiers came up close, while the czar was watching how the camera was loaded. They were smoking. One of them observed the czar away and at the same time blew smoke directly in his face. But the czar didn't show that he was annoyed by this. After I had made some motion picture films of him and his son, and also some still photographs, I saluted and said 'good-by.' He answered 'good-by.' While walking away I glanced around. He was still looking after me and talking to his son."

"Strife" Made Price of War.
The British have taken "strife" in an announcement from the Oxford University Press that the fact is officially made known. The captured word has been included, not to any interest, in the latest volume, Volume IX, of the Oxford dictionary. And as a trophy of war it has been treated after a characteristic British fashion. Its first two letters "a" has been changed to the long English "a" as of "safe" and from two syllables it is reduced to one, so that it may rhyme with "rhabe."

Now does the process of eliminating Germany in this verbal instance stop on the mere point of pronunciation. To the complete of the Oxford dictionary it is "v. slang." So in captivity this word of portents originally derived from not only in quantity but in quality. To quote the London Times, as cited by the dictionary makers, "strife is becoming a comic English word."

York Road Set Free.
The fuel stop in clearing old York road of its old gate incumbrances was taken recently and six toll gates between Liberty Lane and Mathers will hereafter close to let the users of this important highway. Philadelphia shuttled all toll gates within six months ago, but these gates were still open to let a steady flow of traffic about this city except on the Delaware river front, where the toll gates will remain until the Delaware is bridged, but the toll gates must go, and are gone.

"Tell T. R. & Mike."
From New York came the story of a Jewish restaurant proprietor who was told by his neighbor day answering telephone. He answered during the latter's recent "time at Roosevelt hospital." The man had a telephone number similar to that of hospital. The limit of his patience was reached, however, when a man called and said: "Tell the hotel that little black called. He'll remember me. I'm the fellow that took hands with him at the depot today he came to Allentown."

QUALITY NOT QUANTITY

Small States Have Done Great Work in the World.

Who can doubt but that the small states have as much to contribute to civilization as the greater ones? Will any one contend that the Maelstrom of present-day Germany is a greater contribution to the world than the culture of a hundred years ago, when a more of capital cities, like Munich, Dresden, Frankfurt, Cologne, and Weimar, competed with one another in education, in art, in the refinements and amenities of civilization? Will any one familiar with the history of Holland, Belgium, Denmark, and Switzerland contend that their contributions to the world would be greater if they were panned under the hegemony of Germany, as the Pan-Germans suggest?

A study of any one of these states will show that they have contributed as many men of distinction in proportion to their population as have any of the greater states. They have given great capital cities, like Brussels, Copenhagen, and the cities of southern Germany. They have contributed political ideas. They point the pathway to other powers in many lines of endeavor. Belgium, close packed with people, was, before the German invasion, the home of internationalism. She had developed a wonderful transportation system. She had the highest export trade per capita of any country in Europe. Even though a free-trade country, none of the great powers had been able to outstrip her at home or abroad. Holland, too, has a splendid history. She has been the cradle of religious liberty. Her cities have charm, and her people enjoy a standard of living higher than any of the surrounding powers. Switzerland has given political democracy a new significance. In her mountain fastnesses she has safeguarded the right of local self-government and of individual and personal liberty, and to-day is one of the most contented and prosperous countries of Europe. Denmark is the world's agricultural experiment station. She has democratized her Government. She has put an end to the old feudal regime. She has distributed the land among the peasants, and reduced ignorance to the vanishing point. She feeds England and exports cattle to Germany. In some respects her educational system is the most remarkable in the world. No country in Europe enjoys a higher standard of comfort or more universal education, or possesses a greater sense of personal dignity than does this neglected northwest corner of Europe.

If we could free our mind from the prehistoric conception of the state which has sprung very largely from present dynamic ambitions, we would see that there is little justification in the assumption of the superiority of the great state.

Gulls as Food for Man.
"The flesh of gulls," says one of the best-known "encyclopedias," "is rank and coarse." So it is. You get only in about a gill and cough it in the water. In the case, and that so a dinner dish it is a complete failure.

Yet in Iceland, all such is one of the principal winter foods of the people. There, in early summer, when the cliffs warm with nesting gulls, parties are organized, and men are let down over the lofty precipices by ropes. They catch young gulls, which are as fat as butter, and cook them up a the top in sacks. The moment they reach the top the birds are skinned. A great cauldron of boiling water is ready, and into this the bodies are dipped and held for a few seconds. This completely does away with the fishy taste, and the birds are then taken home and hung in smoke until they are thoroughly dried.

When winter comes they are cooked and eaten, and are as delicate as any chicken or game bird, but far more fat and nourishing. This spring it is to be hoped that steps will be taken along the English coast to secure a good supply of young gulls, which should be treated in the Icelandic fashion.

Belgium's British Allies.
Belgium, even more intense than for the past three and a half years, has fallen on Belgium, for no longer is the voice of the bells in the old bellfries heard in the land, and even the organs are mute in the churches.

M. Emile Cammerlin, the Belgian poet, writes in the Revue—this the last cruel stroke—the war is his country. Cruel indeed is Germany's purpose. The bells and organ pipes are being sent to Essen to be converted into engines of destruction. They must be thrown to-day in Germany's melting pot, and their golden song, which floated over the peaceful meadows of Flanders and in the cool and shady streets of quiet towns, will become the rough bark of the guns.

In the case of a deeply sympathetic world nothing could be more eloquent than this quenching of the voice of a once free and independent Belgium.

Keep Your Paper FOR THE RED CROSS

The GRIMSBY Women's Institute are still anxious to get paper to be sold for the benefit of their Red Cross work. All parties who have old papers or magazines or old rubbers should keep them for this purpose. Fold your paper about a foot square and stack them one on top of the other until you have a bundle about a foot deep, then tie it up with good strong string, one that will not break easily. Keep your magazines separately and tie them up in bundles with strong cord. When you have a sufficient number bring them to the paper building on the east side of the Independent Block GRIMSBY.

Those who cannot deliver the paper themselves to the building, should notify the Independent Office and an automobile will call for the paper. Periodical collections will be made in the village, but the parties who make collections are busy men and all papers should be tied up in bundles, so that they can be put into an automobile quickly, so as to save time. Parties in the township, who have a way of delivering the paper themselves should make arrangements with some neighbor to bring them to the paper house on his way or in his automobile.

The Salvation Army from Hamilton has been gathering papers in GRIMSBY and district, but as this organization has no information in GRIMSBY, the GRIMSBY people should keep their papers for their local Red Cross benefit. If a thousand families save all the paper, they will soon make a car load.

Do not roll the paper into small coils as they have to be unrolled before they go in the bales and this work costs almost as much as the paper is worth.

If these instructions are followed carefully the Red Cross can make some money out of waste paper.

HEAVY SHIPMENTS OF SUGAR COMING FORWARD

The following letter to J. P. Robertson is self-explanatory:—
Office of the Food Controller,
Ottawa, Sept. 6, 1914.
J. P. Robertson, Esq.,
Grimsby Ont.

Dear Sir:—
On Sept. 5th, an extraordinary quantity of sugar occurred for a short period, due to a matter over which we had no control. We have taken steps to effect this difficulty and the Railway reports which we receive from week to week show that heavy shipments of sugar have gone into the Niagara district within the last two weeks.

Yours faithfully,
CANADA FOOD BOARD
S. O. Todd, Secretary.

The idea that just because a man is old enough to be a veteran in a Home for Soldiers he is no longer fit for active service, is dispelled in the "The Spirit of '77" in which Jack Pickford is appearing as star at Moore's Theatre, Saturday, September 14th. It is shown by the author, Judge Willis Brown of the Chicago Juvenile Court, in this, his first venture into screenland, that as long as a man has the necessary courage and can still shoulder a musket, he is good enough to defend a town. The idea arises when the youth typified by Mr. Pickford in the story, finds the workmen in his town in danger of being led into a violent strike by German agents. He invokes the aid of a company formed from the ranks of the men who once before had fought for their country, and he causes the veterans with pride and hearts again ringing with the heroic spirit of youth-time, march in to the breach and stop the German cohorts in their attempted march.

until the hastily summoned militia can arrive. Mr. Pickford's work is especially good as "Dary Gliders" while that of the excellent cast, including Katherine McDonald, Raylino Chapman, Jack Johnson and Helen Kady is remarkably in accord with the excellence of the entire production.

GRIMSBY EAST NOTES

The Beach is about all closed up for the season of 1918, the amusements along the Midway Building up on Labor Day night, with the exception of the dancing pavilion which will continue to be open on three nights a week until the snow flies. The cottages are being closed rapidly, and in a short time the season of 1918 will be but a memory.

The fruit shipments from the GRIMSBY East station are growing daily. Peaches and pears are preponderant, but a few grapes have made their appearance and tomatoes are being sent out in car-load lots.

The G. T. R. roadwatchmen reports a great falling off in motor traffic during the past few weeks. There have been a good many rumors flying around relative to the re-building of the Beach Inn, and Manager Budd has a gang of men clearing up the ruins of the late fire, but nothing is authentic and it is not known whether a new hotel building will be constructed or not.

POTATO SPECULATORS WARNED

Dealers and others who may be ambitious in regard to this year's crop of potatoes and apples have been warned by the Canada Food Board against speculation. In negotiations for the purchase or sale of apples, potatoes or other crops, due consideration should be given to the possibility of some action being taken by this Board, declares their recent statement.

EARLY PULLETS VS. OLD HENS FOR EGGS

(Importers' Farm Notes)
For profitable early winter egg production the early hatched pullet is three times better than the late pullet, four times better than the yearling hen and thirty times better than the "aged" hen.

Early pullets are best for winter eggs. This has been demonstrated many times. The Poultry Division, Experimental Farm, has collected figures for several years and when the three months (November, December and January) only are taken into consideration the relative production of the four ages is as noted above. If the six winter months were considered the contrast would not be so striking for the hens and the late pullets were just beginning to lay when the experiment closed. However, if eggs alone are to be considered we cannot afford to feed birds until towards spring before they produce. Even if desired for breeding it is a question if, with the high price of feed, we had not better rely upon the well matured pullet or hatchling eggs next spring rather than feed hens that will not produce or lay yet a hen. Certainly there is no excuse whatever for keeping in our poultry houses late pullets whose eggs cost more than they are worth and birds that are absolutely useless as breeders.

This summary is of results that extend over four years and are taken from several of the farms of the system so that the figures will indicate fairly well what may be expected for those three months. These figures show that early pullets (hatched before May 1st.) produced eggs at a cost for feed of 18.3 cents. The late pullets (hatched after May 1st.) at a cost of 54 cents. The year old hens at a cost of 78.3 cents, and for every dozen eggs laid by the hens in the aged class the cost of feed was $5.73.

Again these facts should be emphasized (1) that for profitable egg production birds should lay before February. (2) Early well matured pullets are the only birds that may be expected to do this. (3) Late pullets as a rule will not pay to keep. (4) For eggs, hens are not profitable. (5) If we have a good flock of early pullets, for the time being depend upon them for breeding. (6) It is a national loss to keep birds that eat a dollar's worth of feed to produce fifty cents worth of eggs.

IMPORTANT POINTS IN HATCHING CHICKENS

During the hatching season the nest should be kept clean. Clean poultry houses and particularly the water and a supply of whole grain should be accessible to the sitters and a dust bath should be provided. After each hatch and put in new seed and fresh litter. Do not use the hen with insect powder before putting her in. If more than one hatch is being taken off, clean out and disinfect the nest and again a day or two before leaving the nests with the chickens. It is a good plan to put into the dust bath a little dry sulphur or ground tobacco.

Be sure also that the house is free from mice. These little pests get into the cracks and corners of the building and at night, as the hens are resting, they come out of their hiding place, get on the hen's back and it does not take very many of them to make a hen so uneasy that she cannot sit. In some cases the mice become so troublesome that they actually worry the hens to death.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLE EXHIBITION, ETC., AT TORONTO

(P. G. H. P.)

My visit to this Exhibition was made on Farmers' Day. In spite of the weather being rainy in the afternoon the attendance was much larger than last year.

In the Ontario Government Building one of the chief exhibits was that of grain from the prize winning fields in the Ontario Field Competition. Magnificent sheaves of wheat and oats were shown in this exhibit. Nearby was a moderate sized stand on which the Ontario Vegetable Growers had an exhibit of vegetables entered in their competition. Potatoes, onions, cabbages, squash, cabbage, melons, tomatoes, etc. There was some very nice samples shown in this exhibit, almost the only vegetable exhibit to be seen at the Fair that day.

The Ontario Fruit Department had an exhibit of two large stands of apples, consisting of Duchess, Gala, Honey Sweet and Maiden's Blush, which made a fair showing, and also a small display of mixed vegetables. There was the usual International exhibit of the O. A. C. of fungi and diseases of fruits and vegetables. Also alongside a good exhibit of bees and honey, and a fair exhibit of vegetable seeds raised in Ontario.

The Horticultural Building was strong on ornamentals this year, the main part of this building being devoted to foliage and decorative plants interspersed with orchids and other flowers. In the centre was a large table devoted to Gladioli in high glass vases. The whole effect was very pleasing from a decorative point of view. Several of the seedmen had also exhibits of vegetables and roots with floral and other decorations.

In one corner was a small but very choice collection of roses shown by one of the Toronto Nurseries.

The fruit exhibit in one of the north wings was very superior to last season in both quality and quantity. A great deal of interest was centred in the tables of fruit exhibited in the competition for the best general fruit display. The one which took first prize was shown by Robt. Cameron of St. Catharines. It consisted of a round table decorated with blue and white paper on which were placed in elegant plates a very large collection of almost every kind of fruit grown in Ontario. The fruit shown in this exhibit was of very fine appearance and quality. In the centre was a small elevated stand crowned with a basket containing baskets of grapes and some apples. The whole effect was very pleasing.

The second prize went to Frank Farmington of St. Catharines. This was a very beautiful table, decorated with green and yellow. The lower part of the stand was decorated with diagonal sections, containing, as apples, pears, plums, etc. of different colors. A higher stand in the centre contained baskets holding choice pears, peaches, pears, apples and plums, interspersed with ferns. This table had a better color scheme and was in my opinion the more tastefully arranged table of the three but it did not have the profusion of fruit exhibited on the table that won the first prize.

The third prize was awarded to W. J. Pirninger, also of St. Catharines, and it also contained a nice collection of fruit on plates, but manifestly inferior to the other two.

Plums were King this year making the best show of all the fruits. Particularly fine were the specimens of Shiro, Climax, Barabank, Yellow Egg, Grand Duke, Victoria and Helme Claude.

The exhibit of apples was good, both in cases and on plates. Of all the varieties Duchess showed up the best.

The grape exhibit was far superior to last year in all lines, and the grapes exhibited were surprisingly well colored for so early in the year. In the competition for the heaviest bunch, some very fine bunches of Campbell's Early and Niagara's were shown. In the general exhibit Moore's Early, Wood's Early, showed up the best.

There were some very fine cases of Duchess, Astrachans and Greenings, also of Clappes and Bartlett pears.

The general pear exhibit was good. Chapp's Favorite, Bartlett, Clappan, Forelock and Flemish Beauty were in the front appearance.

In the Commercial packages a good showing was made. In apples there were some very fine boxes of Duchess, Alexander, Greening and Barabank. The box of Duchess which won the first prize was exceptionally good, and there were also two boxes of Astrachans, exceptionally good. The peach collection on plates was of good appearance and quality. St. Johns, Engel's Mammoth and Leaningstone showed up best. Those in boxes were also good, but in baskets they were only fair. All the peaches were a little on the small side.

The heaviest bunches of plums, peaches, pears and grapes were decidedly good. Altogether the fruit exhibit was the best for several years and a credit to the exhibitors.

The chief feature of all, however, was in another wing of the same building, and that was the splendid exhibit of the Dominion Fruit Branch in charge of Instructor P. J. Carey.

This consisted of a long stand of which the floor consisted of imitation grass on which was arranged a magnificent collection of all kinds of fruits, strawberries, cherries, raspberries, plums, peaches, apples, pears, etc., preserved with their natural appearance in large glass jars.

Dorothy Dalton in 'The Making of Marcelle'

THOMAS H. LUCE presents

THE MAKING OF MARCELLE

by J. P. ROBERTSON

Author of MANY SUCCESSSES

Joseph Franklin Poland, author of "The Making of Marcelle," the latest Paramount picture starring Dorothy Dalton, which was produced under the supervision of Thomas H. Luce, has a long string of successful plays to his credit, but none that has been more successful than his latest. In fact, he considers "The Making of Marcelle," which will be shown at Moore's Theatre Saturday, Sept. 21, one of his most human screen dramas. In addition to the picture's vivid characterization, its action proceeds swiftly through a succession of absorbing situations.
